

The 22nd Annual International Mental Health Conference 2023

Dr. Sobha Spielmann FRS, Board Member of National Council on Social Welfare of Thailand (NCSWT) and Chair of NCSWT Academic and Research Committee, together with Ms. Khanittha Ruangkanap, Head of Social Work Section, Ms. Sasitorn Vatanacharn, Member of NCSWT International Affairs Committee, and Ms. Kwannate Sukjai, Head of Academic and International Affairs Section, participated in the 22nd Annual International Mental Health Conference 2023 on Enhancing Collaboration for Violence Prevention and Social Well Being. The conference was scheduled during July 19-21, 2023 at Prince Palace Hotel in Bangkok.

Benefits gained from attending the Conference:

1. It is useful for the Child and Youth Committee in order to instill morality and ethics into young children. When they grow up, they will have immunity to protect themselves and keep away from all problems.
2. Help children and youth reduce stress, a major obstacle to physical, mental, intellectual, emotional, and social development, so that they will grow up to be adults of good mental health and optimistic.

The summary of the 22nd Annual International Mental Health Conference 2023 in E-book is provided through NCSWT's website.

